Don't Miss the 2018 QSEN Conference:

This year’s Quality and Safety Education for Nurses (QSEN) National Forum will focus on the competency of evidence-based practice. Keynote speaker Dr. Bernadette Melnyk will open the conference sharing solutions for breaking down silos between academia and practice for integrating competencies of evidence-based practice to move quality and patient safety forward. As always, attendees can expect presentations from experts on QSEN integration in academia and practice. Evidence-based teaching strategies to implement the QSEN competencies in classroom, clinical, orientation, and continuing education will be shared through over 50 oral presentations and 90 poster presentations. Attendees will return to their institutions ready to effectively implement the QSEN competencies and prepared to support colleagues and students in improving the quality and safety of healthcare.

Math Task Force Survey Link

Participate in a survey to help us understand math preparation and education for nurses. Here is the link to the survey: Math Task Force - Math for Nurses Survey

Dear Colleagues: Thank you so much for taking the time to help us create a general understanding of the landscape of mathematical preparation for nurses! This survey should take approximately 10 minutes to complete. More specifically the purpose of this survey is to 1) gather information to guide the work of the QSEN Task Force on High-Quality Mathematical Preparation for Nurses as we work to improve the quality and safety in patient care by improving the mathematical prep of nurses and 2) to take the pulse of the mathematics education that nurses experience across the country.

Please feel free to forward this to others at your institution who could also add meaningful responses to the survey.

For more information on the Task Force, please see the QSEN website for more information (http://qsen.org/qsen-task-force-on-high-quality-mathematical-preparation-for-nurses/) and to Join the Task Force - please sign up here: http://bit.ly/QSENMathTaskForce
