Announcements

The Value of the Certified Professional in Healthcare Quality® (CPHQ) Certification

As a nurse professional, you make a commitment to lifelong learning. Seeking educational opportunities and designations like certification signifies one’s dedication to professional growth and passion for one’s work.
The National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN) would like to invite nursing programs to participate in an innovative study involving the collection of nursing student errors and near misses. This study was presented at the 2018 QSEN International Forum in Bonita Springs, Florida.

Please find more information about this study here:
