Instructions: After your students have completed their self-reflections and discussed their answers during an individual team debriefing, gather the teams and ask the following questions for a group team debrief. Alternatively, you may use the video lead group team debriefing.

1. Thinking back on your team’s experience, what went well?

2. What did not go so well?

3. Were there any times when something actually worked better than you expected?

4. What is something that your team started, but changed when it did not work as planned?

5. If your team had access to evidence-based practice, instead of relying on group intuition, how would it affect your outcome?
